THE ELECTION LAWS. He Says He Encountered the Active Opsition of the Police Department-The District Attorney's Office Criticised— Colonization Frauds in Mazet's District, ALBANY, Feb. 13.-Superintendent of Elections John McCullagh has submitted his annual report to Gov. Roosevelt. He says in The scope of the Department was ordered by amendments to the original law made almost at the end of the last session of the Legislature. Its work has been prosecuted as thoroughly and as efficiently as possible. Wholesale attempts to violate the laws governing the franchise have been detected and the activity of the Department has been manifestly far reaching. "The active opposition of the Police Department of New York city has been encountered, nd the District Attorney and his assistants have utterly failed to give any sympathy or cooperation. In spite of this offenders have been arrested, found guilty and sentenced through Special Grand Juries and special terms of court, convened for the consideration of their particular cases, while the apparent efforts of those charged with the maintenance of peace and the enforcement of law to give aid and and the enforcement of law to give aid and comfort to felons who would violate the franchise have emphasized the need of the work for which this Department was created."

Of the general attitude of city officers Supt. McCullagh says:

"The attempts of this Department to prevent the illegal registration and voting by inmates of charitable institutions were hindered in every possible way by the legal officers of the city, who showed an utter lack of good faith in following out the decisions of the courts. The District Attorney of New York county and his assistants maintained that 147 persons arrested in 1858 for attempted voting from charitable institutions were not 'immates,' but 'employees,' who performed certain labor in return for board, lodging and medical attendance."

Of colonization in the last election, the report says:

for board, lodging and medical attendance."
Of colonization in the last election, the report days:
"These methods in all their essentials, which have prevailed in the lower parts of the city for years, were carried for the first time into one of the most respectable portions of the city, owing to the bitter determination of the Tammany organization to defeat the Republican candidate for Assembly in the Nineteenth district. Employees and hangers-on of poolrooms, dance houses and gambling houses in several Assembly districts were pressed into the service and sent to the Nineteenth Assembly districts were pressed into the service and sent to the Nineteenth Assembly district to register from rooms which had been hired for the nurpose. One gang of thirty-five repeaters was sent into the district from the Thirty-fourth Assembly districts. Many of these men registered twise, and nearly all of them once. Arrests and convictions were numerous and there are indictments still awaiting the March term of the court. So that it appears from the records that, with the possible exception of the notoriously wholesale frauds uncarthed and punished in the Second district some years ago, there has not been so long a blacklist of crimes against the franchise for years as the one recorded in the Nineteenth Assembly district in the election of 1899.
"A wholesale scheme of colonization was discovered in which one man had contracted to secure the illegal registration of 300 men. For this ne was to be paid $300, or $1 per man. His contracts, made in one instance with a municipal officeholder, were in writing and one of this he was to be paid $300, or $1 per man. His contracts, made in one instance with a municipal officeholder, were in writing and one of these has been secured."

"The Poice Department," the report declares, "has taken upon itself arbitrary powers in its treatment of matters relating to the election. Persons arrosted by deputies of this Department upon duly executed warrants issued by magistrates have been forcibly taken from the custody of the deputies by the police, who have permitted and in some cases commanded the accused to vote. On this point there came a violent clash between the city and State, as represented by the two departments in the election of 1890, as is set forth in detail in an appendix to this report, submitted herewith." set forth in detail in an appendix to the first submitted herewith."

The report closes with recommendations of minor amendments to the Primary and Election laws, chiefly with regard to simplifying the enrollment of primary voters.

The police officials in Mulberry Street did not care to discuss the strictures passed upon them by Superintendent of Elections John McCullagh, in his report to Gov. Reosevelt. President York said he did not propose to enter into a discussion with Mr. McCullagh, but the Superintendent had had all the cooperation incumbent upon the Department, and no complaints had been made to the Police Boart. "Let McCullagh cite a specific instance," said Commissioner Abell, "and then we will be prepared to answer."

Bill at Yesterday's Hearing

ALBANY, Feb. 14. — The Assembly Tax-1887, 2200, 2 ation and Retrenchment Committee gave 2207, 2206, Part III.—Clear. a hearing to-day on the Treat bill to deposits in savings banks in excess of $1,000. Abraham V. DeWitt of Albany, attorney for the New York State Savings Banks Association, appeared against the bill. He simply said that the savings banks opposed the bill, but made no argument against it. A delegation of representatives of the Catholic Mutual Benevolent Association of the State, composed of Edward Ryan of Syracuse. Secretary of the State Association; Charles McDonough of Buffalo, P. J. Keily of Salamanea, and William F. Quinn of Troy, appeared and asked that the funds of the association, which are deposited in savings banks, be exempt from the provisions of the bill, as the moneys thus received are used in aiding widows and orphans. Peter D. Johnson of Albany, representing the Patrons of Industry of Albany county, spoke in favor of the bill as one in the interests of the poor man and to make rich men pay taxes. The committee decided to hold the bill for another week, to permit any one who wishes to be heard in opposition to appear before the committee, and if a hearing is not requested it will be favorably reported

BRIDGE AND TUNNEL BILL

Brennan's Measure Will Be Reported Favorably in the Assembly To-day. ALBANY, Feb. 14.-The Brennan New York City Bridge and Tunnel bill will be favorably reported to the Assembly to-morrow by the Commerce and Navigation Committee. It is now on the order of third reading. Brennan amended the bill in two particulars Brennan amended the bill in two particulars so that the city may have something to say in regard to the expenditures for the bridges and tunnels. The bill will provide that the city may determine what amount shall be expended for the construction of the tunnels and bridges and may draw the plans and specifications, and if the bids are not within the amount of the specifications it need not appropriate more money. The other amendment requires the commissioners, who are to be appointed by the Governor, to supervise the construction of the bridges and tunnels between the boroughs, to report monthly in detail the expenditures and the operations of the commission to the Mayor of New York city and to the Governor.

THE STATE TRUST COMPANY.

Counsel Push the Application for Permis-ALBANY, Feb. 14.-Charles P. Bacon, as attorney for Stockholder Kling of the State Trust Company, was here again to-day, and receated his request to the Attorney-General receated his request to the Attorney-General that he set a date for hearing the application he filed some time ago for Mr. King, for permission to begin a suit to wind up the affairs of the Trust company and to annul its charter. The application is made on the ground that the directors and officers of the company were guilty of alleged violations of the law in making certain contracts for the loan of the funds of the company. Attorney-General Davies told Mr. Bacon that he had been too busy to look over the papers, but that he would try to do so to-morrow.

TAX ON CALL LOANS.

Revenue Bureau Holds Now That the Col-Interal Is Taxably Transferred, Not Pledged The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, who formerly ruled that the transference of stocks and bonds, piedged as collateral for loans. was a transaction taxable as a pledge of personal property at 25 cents for the first $1,500 and 25 cents for each additional $500 loaned, now rules that the transaction comes under the clause relating to transfers of such securities and is taxable at two cents on every $100 of face value of the securities. Call loans as at present made by the banks are verbal transactions, only the collateral passing between its borrowers and the banks. It is held by the banks that such verbal transactions are not taxable. They contend that no stamps are required unless there has been a "sale" or an "agreement of sale" checked, and the moral effect springing from evidenced by a written agreement; or there has been made a written memorandum of a has been made a written memorandum of a delivery or transfer. No memorandum is required by the law in any case other than that of a sale or agreement of sale. The whole matter of taxation of all loans is now under advisement by the Attorney-General and pending a decision the banks will continue not to require of borrowers the payment of any stamp tax upon call loans made verbally. In the event that the Attorney-General's decision is adverse to the position taken by the banks it will be contested in the courts.

STATE TRUST NOT YET ABSORBED. A Question Arises Over Trust Funds Held by It in That Name.

The lawyers have not completed the arrangements for the consolidation of the State and Morton Trust companies. A representative of the State Trust Company said yesterday that one question related to the trust funds held by that company. In the trust deeds the State Trust Company is specifically named, and the question was whether, if the Morton Trust Company absorbed the State company, the trust funds could be transferred unless the name State Trust Company was preserved.

To Elevate the Pennsylvania's Tracks in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.-After five or six years of wrangling and discussion, officials of the Penn-sylvania Railroad and of the city of Chicago have come to an agreement, or what appears to be an agreement, which includes the elevation of the main tracks of the railroad south of Eighteenth street and the tracks of the Pan Handle Road in Kenzie street. The cost of the proposed work to the company will be about four million dollars, and it makes possible also the completion of plans already agreed to for the elevation of the Chicago and Alton and the Chicago and Western Indiana companies on the south side.

24 Per Cent. Earnings by a Cereal Company. ARRON, O., Feb. 14.-The American Cereal Company's annual meeting was held here this afternoon. The past year is said to have been the most prosperous the company ever had. It is said that its net earnings have been about $780,000, amounting to practically 24 per cent. It was further reported at the annual meeting that the company has paid for the extensions and improvements it has made on its proper-ties as the liabilities were incurred.

OFFICE OF THE GREENE CONSOLIDATED COPPER COMPANY, 27 William Street, New York City, February 14, 1900. AUGUSTE MATHEZ, ESQ.,

Mining Engineer. Denver, Colorado.

DEAR Sin:

In a recent advertisement, the Greene Consolidated Copper Company referred to you, among other emingal mining engineers, in corroboration of its statements as to the extent and value of its properties. This was done because we knew that you had examined a part of the property and after such examination had expressed yourself in strong and enthusiasite terms in relation to it.

I notice in some of the morning papers a card over your name stating that you have never expressed the opinion that the mines in question are of great value or of any value whatever.

I remember distinctly that you stated to me when in Nogales, Ariz, in November, I sive, that in your opinion this was a great property and when developed it would be an immense property, and if a tany time you could say a good word for it you would be glad to do so.

Mr. Miles W. Gibbons, a mining engineer of at least equal experience and renown with yourself, who went with you to the property, and who is present while I am detating this letter, says that you said to him after you had completed your joint examination of the property: "I feel convinced, dibbons, that this property is of great value and I am aeriously inclined to report it favorably to our people."

We know also that subsequently you were em-am seriously inclined to report it favorably to our people."

We know also that subsequently you were employed by Mr. Samuel Newhouse and Mr. George E. Armstrong and their associates to further investigate this property, and that after getting your report, they unsuccessfully attempted to buy an interest in it for one million dollars.
I do not know what motives have induced you to change front in this matter, but immediately upon receiving information that you did not wish to have your name used, we withdrew it from the advertisement.
Since you have seen the property a large amount of development has been done, opening up vast reserves of ore, and a smelter has been received which is turning out from 14 to 20 tons of coppare matter per day. If you should see it now I am very sure that the opinion which you expressed to Mr. (ii) bons and to me as to the great value of the property would be fully sustained and strengthened.

WILLIAM C. GREENE,

WILLIAM C. GREENE, President of the Greene Consolidated Copper Co.
I have read the foregoing letter. I was with Mr Mathez in his examination of the Cananea proper-ties in February, 1899. I remember distinctly that Mr. Mathez made the statement to me quoted in Mr. Greene's letter, and that he frequently and repeatedly expressed his opinion of the great value o the properties.

the properties.

We consulted together at great length as to the beat method of opening up the mines, and agreed upon a plan of development. We also were in entire accord as to the immense extent and great value of the property.

I wish to add for myself, that I have examined as an expert many of the principal mining properties of the world, and, except the gold mines of the Rand. I have never seen mines that promised as well as the mines of the Greene Consolidated Copper Company.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 14. The professional element which for some time past has been the most aggressive factor in the stock market was disposed to take profits to-day. Local traders professed to be disappointed at the reduction in the dividend on Third avenue railroad stock, and some of them expressed fears of labor troubles on some of the larger transportation systems. As a matter of fact there is no basis for the last, and as to the Third avenue dividend it ;would not have been surprising if it had been passed. The real reason for the irregular market, in which declines numerically exceeded the advances, was the recognition of the fact that the public is not yet an important element in the speculation. While there are no stocks pressing upon the market it is equally true that the demand for them is pretty nearly limited to Wall Street. In consequence operators who rely entirely upon the market for their income always consider it wise to take profits whenever they have accrued, irrespective of outside conditions having a bear-

There was effective selling of Baltimore and Ohio isques. Third avenue, Federal Steel, U. S. Rubber, Metropolitan Railway and Continenta Tobacco. The selling of the last named was ostensibly on the announcement that the company will issue debentures to take up the $2,000,000 of preferred stock of the P. Lorillard Company that was not re-quired when the Continental Company was formed. The manipulation of American Tobacco kept that stock exceptionally strong throughout. Tennessee Coal and Iron als enjoyed a sharp net advance on reports that the accumulated dividends on the preferred stock are to be paid off in the immediate future. The Granger group held well on light trading and so did a few other issues, but the tendency of the market as a whole, particularly in the late trading, was reactionary.

Coffee prices showed little change to-day, though some months were slightly lower on easier Enropean cables. There was moderate buying forlocal account, but the speculative demand has fallen off of late. Spot and afloat coffee continues in good demand for No. 7 and lower grades, but high grades still command only a small premium over No. 7 and cannot be sold at much higher than the basis of March delivery, plus the Exchange difference of 160, for each grade over No. 7.

'The decline in the hog market made provisions moderately lower, with most of the offerings in the way of short selling, though English packers were on this side. There was a fair investment demand and some of the buying of ribs and lard through brokers was credited to a prominent packer. The market closed steady at a partial reaction in sympathy with grain. The cash trade though not selarge as yesterday's, was fairly good.
